

Physiotherapists working with CTGHG

Work individually and as part of a team with clients and families of all ages whose lives have been affected by physical illness or injury, developmental delays, or the aging process. You provide assessment, intervention and advice with regards to mobility and transfers, musculoskeletal conditions, pain and inflammation, respiratory conditions and circulatory concerns which affect the clients ability to cope independently at home, school or in the community. You will have the autonomy to manage your own caseload to meet the needs of your clients, as well as, giving you the flexibility to schedule your own day.

As a member of the inter-professional team, you will develop individualized home or school based treatment programs. These may include teaching your clients, families, school staff, caregivers or another member of the inter-professional team an activity/exercise program. You might be assessing your clients for mobility aids and fitting them. Treatment modalities such as TENS or ultrasound will be available to you. The school playground may be the setting for you to help a child progress through their developmental milestones.

You may have the support of a Rehabilitation Assistant to follow through on your program suggestions.
